

Jury Service

How was my name selected for jury service?

Names are randomly selected by a computer program from a master list of eligible jurors.

Lycoming County uses a master list from various sources including:

Department of State – residents registered to vote

Department of Transportation – residents who have been issued a driver's license

Department of Revenue – residents who have filed a tax return with the Commonwealth

Department of Human Services – residents receiving Federal or State assistance

Lycoming County Tax Assessment – property owners who have been assessed to pay county tax bill

In Lycoming County, if you are summoned and appear for jury selection and not selected to serve on a jury, you may be randomly selected for jury selection again the next calendar year. If you are selected as a juror and serve for one day, you may be selected again after one year. If you have served as a juror for 3 or more days, you may be selected again after three years.

Why have some people never been called for jury service but I have been called more than once?

Jury selection is a random process. As such, there is always the chance that a person may never be called while another may be called several times.

What are the papers I received in the mail?

Summons Letter (white sheet) is mailed from the Court Administration Office, summoning you to appear for jury selection during a specific period of time. The summons includes your Juror ID number and important instructions and information.

Juror Questionnaire (yellow sheet) is for you to complete on both sides and bring with you on your day of jury selection. If you lose this questionnaire or forget to complete it, one will be given to you when checking in on the day of your jury selection.

Requests for Disqualification, Deferral, Excusal or a Day Certain (green sheet) is provided to help you request a change in your jury service. It also serves a reminder with all the important dates listed.
